THE FOUNDATION'S CAMPAIGN

The Foundation, partnered with The Nelson Mandela Children's Fund, utilizes positive messaging, media, and education to reach a younger generation. The Foundation's strengths lie in its connection to art, music, and film.

THE FOUNDATION'S LAUNCH

The Legacy of Hope Foundation begins its campaign with the Nelson Mandela Children's Hospital (NMCH) to aid in the creation of this historic facility at the Wits University Medical School site. The doors are slated to open in 2015.

Future plans for the Legacy of Hope Foundation brand include having several large concert and media events with an educational backbone to build children's facilities worldwide.

From Nobel Prize winners and award winning journalists to Oscar winners and celebrated Civil Rights activists, all have banded together to use their social standing and connections to aid in support of this historical campaign.

The Nelson Mandela Children's Hospital will live by Mr. Mandela's creed that a society's soul is revealed by how it treats their children.

HONORARY BOARD COMMITTEE MEMBERS

Dr. Maya Angelou, Ruby Bridges, Christy Turlington Burns, Ed Burns, Viola Davis, Dame Judi Dench, Arun Gandhi, Whoopi Goldberg, Dr. Sanjay Gupta, Katherine Heigl, Sir Anthony Hopkins, Ashley Judd, Nicole Kidman, Larry King, Sir Ben Kingsley, Natalie Portman, Susan Sarandon, Octavia Spencer, Salma Hayek Pinault, Charlize Theron, Ben Vereen, Barbara Walters, and Elie and Marion Wiesel.

All these people have been identified for their personal relationship with Graça Machel and Mr. Mandela and/or their philanthropic efforts involving children. This Celebrity Honorary Committee will also be engaged in a Public Service Announcement campaign strategically placed before feature movies in theatres and selected media points.

THE NELSON MANDELA CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

This much needed facility will address the fact that there are only FOUR children's hospitals currently serving the ENTIRE continent of Africa. The hospital will celebrate the legacy of Mr. Mandela and his love of children while advancing Mr. Mandela's vision to future generations. This hospital, through its training and research will build human capacity and spread the ethos, values and approach of Mr. Mandela and entrench his values and culture throughout the world. The Nelson Mandela Children's Hospital will also be a turning point on how the world views under-served children by providing specialized pediatric care to all children, regardless of their inability to pay.

- It has aligned its mission and services with the South African Health Ministry's plan for modernization of the country's medical service plans.
- It is partnering with the National Department of Health and the Gauteng Department of Health and Social Development.
- Wits University has committed its medical school as a primary base for training and research as well as donated the land for the hospital.
- Mediclinic Southern Africa will serve as the hospital operating company.
- The Nelson Mandela Children's Hospital, 200-bed hospital, will employ more than 600 staff; and serve as a training ground for specialized caregivers for both NMCH and other Hospitals.

Graça Machel, wife of the late Nelson Mandela, is the Chairperson of the Nelson Mandela Children's Hospital Trust and Sbongile Mkhabela, CEO of the NMCH Trust.

Centers of Excellence will include:

- Hematology, Adolescence Hematology / Oncology
- Bone Marrow Transplant
- Cardiology & Cardiothoracic Surgery
- Neurosciences – Nephrology
- Urology/Dialysis Center
- Neonatal, Surgical and General ICU
- General Pediatric Surgery
- Craniofacial

The hospital will be run as a not-for-profit entity. Currently, there are only FOUR dedicated children's hospitals in Africa – two in Egypt, one in Kenya and one in Cape Town, South Africa, serving a population of 741 million. This, in comparison to 19 children's hospitals in Australia, 20 in Germany, 23 in Canada and more than 200 in the United States.

Nelson Mandela's last wish was to build a children's hospital in Johannesburg to serve all children of southern Africa regardless of race, socio-economic status, or their ability to pay.

A CRUCIALLY NEEDED PEDIATRIC HOSPITAL IN SOUTH AFRICA IS LONG OVERDUE

To give you an idea of the imbalance, there are 14 pediatric hospitals serving California alone. As a result of this reality, many South African children simply wander ignored in their attempt to heal or survive and if these children do receive healthcare, they are thrown into comprehensive facilities that lack staff, medicine, equipment and critical pediatric expertise. In these facilities, children are unfortunately viewed as 'little adults' where the old and young suffer and heal, side-by-side.

Statistics show that South Africa ranks 145th out of 197 countries in combating infant mortality, with an average of 56.62 deaths out of 1,000 births in the last four years.

Ten years ago, Nelson Mandela enriched his living legacy by unfolding his dream of the Nelson Mandela Children's Hospital. A key figure in this dream is a person who literally stood next to Mr. Mandela as they consoled her son, Lindo, who died at the age of 5 from third degree burns. Sibongile 'Bongi' Mkhabela left the hospital without her son, but walked away with a shared vision by Nelson Mandela.

"We suddenly saw the world of sick children and it was not kind, thoughtful or childlike - it needed change," explains Ms. Mkhabela. "Nelson Mandela has been a symbol of hope in my life. I consider it an honor to be a part of this event to further his legacy and bring aid to children in need."

The shared knowledge of the realities of being incarcerated for protesting apartheid and thus for fighting for what you believe in, Mandela appointed Bongi Mkhabela CEO of the Nelson Mandela Children's Trust. Since that time Mkhabela has directed the hospital's feasibility stage, verification phase and with your help, the construction phase of the Nelson Mandela Children's Hospital.

Today, only FOUR pediatric hospitals currently serve the entire continent of Africa which is home to 450 million children.

“There can be no keener revelation of a society’s soul than the way it treats its children.” Nelson Mandela

LEGACY OF HOPE COMMEMORATIVE PROGRAM

The Legacy of Hope concert program will feature alternating backdrop illustrations from famous children's illustrators and world-class graffiti artists. In August 2014, after the concert, the Legacy of Hope Foundation will have a gallery at Art Basel in Miami, one of the largest art events of the year that draws over 50,000 art patrons yearly. The large format prints will be auctioned off to support the children's hospital and every night a different national music act will play. Legacy of Hope will be engaged in embracing the art and music communities simultaneously in this momentous event.
